

May 2001

GOVERNMENT and GANGS

ROY GODSON

Professor of Government, Georgetown University President, National Strategy Information Center

PRESENTATION OUTLINE

1. Contemporary Security Assessment
 - Required syntheses of secret intelligence and open source collection and analysis: the case of the political-criminal nexus.
2. The Political-Criminal Nexus (PCN)
 - What it is and what it is not
3. Why a Security Threat and Not Just a Law Enforcement Challenge
4. Anticipating the Threat
 - Identifying conditions that give rise to the PCN
5. Identifying Opportunities
 - What can be done to prevent and neutralize political-criminal collaboration
6. Role of Open Source Collection and Analysis

OSS 01 PROCEEDINGS Foreign Affairs, Defense, and Trade Threat Analysis: New Directions in Open Source Intelligence - Link Page

Previous Early Warning and Complex Monitoring of Ethnic Conflict and Mass Atrocities

Next Reshaping National Intelligence for an Age of Information

Return to Electronic Index Page